BUSINESS NOTES AND TRADE NEWS

Raw Cotton's Rise Strengthens Gray Goods Prices-Demand for Summer Clothes.

The rising raw cotton market strength ened prices in yesterday's gray goods market. Trading was light, however,

Gata in Silk Hostery Sales.

TO NEW HIGH LEVEL

Sales in May surpassed those in the corresponding month last year and results for the present month are expected to transcend the May figures. A healthler demand developed by the warmer weather apparently found retail stocks inadequate as a result of caution exercised by retailers in anticipating their future requirements, and buyers have been forced to refill their stocks. The trend of orders received by manufacturers indicates that retail merchants are buying more liberally with an eye to a probable heavier consumer demand as the summer progresses. Full fashioned hosiery enjoys undiminished popularity and the demand for glove silk stockings is broadening. Hosettes, or socks with elastic tops, are beginning to sell more rapidly as a result of the hot weather. Black and white are the customary leaders in colors, with a better demand for aport shades, such as periwinkle, flame and princess blue.

Demand for veils is increasing steadily, although there is still plenty of room for improvement. Retailers' shelves are not believed to be well stocked in this merchandise, but the merchants evince little inclination to replenish their supplies to any great extent. The slight improvement in the call from consumers has tended to force retailers to buy more often, although still in small quantities. Demand has been bearing on sport veils and fancy meshes. A better interest is manifested in flowing veils, which are of great value in protecting wearers from the rays of the sun. Dotted veils seem to have reached the end of their run of popularity, according to a foremost manufacturer. The volume of sales of that style is described as almost negligible.
